THIS IS MODERN MEDICINE

The Birth of Venus – Sandro Boticelli 1485

"These marbled statues represented a value – an idealized value – of male and female roles in society that codified a power dynamic and social order that persists in so many ways today. It's such a gesture that seems thoughtless until you see it repeated over and over; it becomes clear it is intentional and deliberate, and the lasting effect erases feminine humanity. Even the most enlightened of us still have to unlearn cultural definitions of our sex that cast our vaginas as profane, obscene, ugly."

The lack of female genitals on statues seems thoughtless until you see it repeated - Syreeta McFadden : The Guardian 13th April 2015

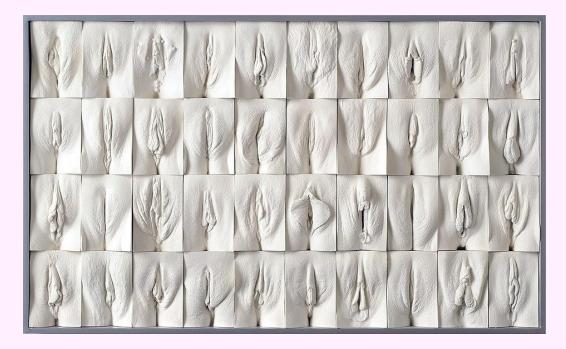

Origin of the World – Gustave Corbet (1866)

Iris – Auguste Rodin (1895)

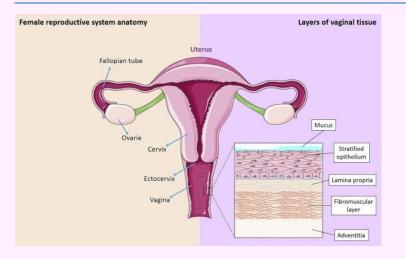

The Great Wall of Vagina – Jamie McCarthy (2008)

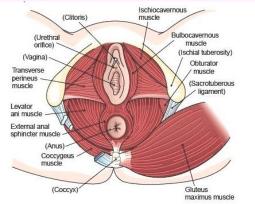

"The vagina became this whole new place to shame women around because there's money to be made in shaming people."

Neoplasia

Vaginal cancer rare : 1-2% of genital tract cancers

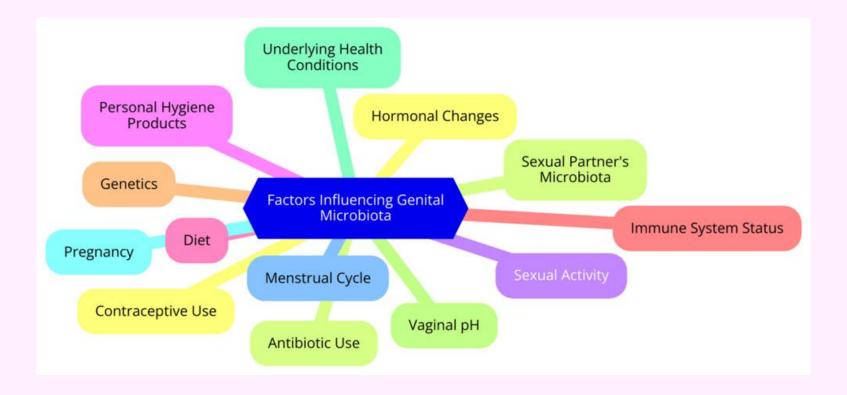

Highest incidence in women > 75 years age

Approximately 15 cases PRIMARY vaginal cancer in Ireland per year

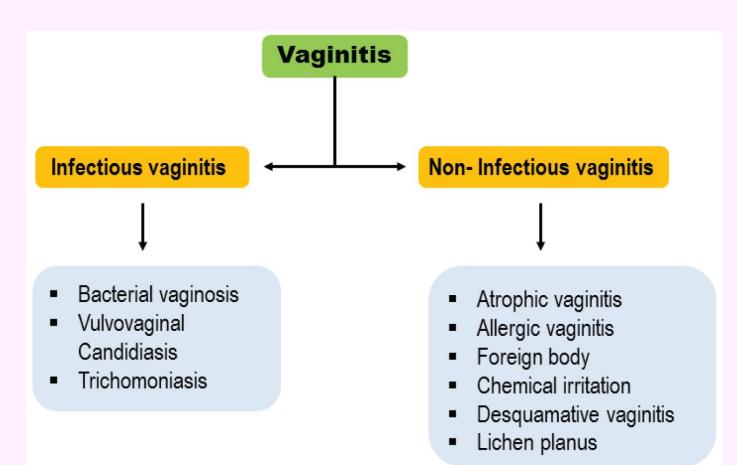

Squamous cell : 85-90% Adenocarcinoma : 7-10% Melanoma Sarcoma (mostly leiomyosarcoma) A precancerous condition called vaginal intraepithelial neoplasia (VAIN) that often has no symptoms Presence of the human papillomavirus (HPV), a sexually transmitted infection that can lead to the development of VAIN Tobacco smoking, which doubles your risk of vaginal cancer Radiotherapy to the pelvis increases your risk of vaginal cancer, however this is very rare.

If your mother was prescribed the synthetic hormone diethylstilboestrol (DES) during pregnancy (before 1971), you have an increased risk of vaginal cancer
